HOWARD BRAME

Maimed in a Corn Shredder In a Horrible Manner.Loses His Left Arm and the Fingers of His Right Hand.

Howard Brame, a young farmer of Longview, was the victim of a horrible accident Saturday while operating a corn shredder. In some way his hands were caught in the machine and his arms pulled in and fearfully mangled. The young man's arms clogged the machine and stopped its motion. It was several minutes before he could be released. Both arms were found to be horribly crushed and stripped of flesh. Mr. Brame with wonderful nerve walked to the house and sent for a doctor and directed the relief that the men on the place could give him. Dr. Austin Bell soon arrived and found that the left arm would have to be amputated above the elbow and that the right arm was in almost as bad a condition. The little finger was gone, the forearm was stripped of flesh and the bones of the elbow were crushed. The young man was so weakened from the loss of blood that he could not undergo the amputation for 24 hours.

The operation was performed Sunday, the left arm and all the fingers of the right hand except the thumb and forefinger being removed.

Mr. Brame stood the operation well and was yesterday reported to be doing reasonably well, though there is still doubt of his recovery.

He is a young man about 27 years old, a nephew of Mrs. H. A. Rogers of this city. His mother, who lives in Carlisle, Ark., was sent for and Mrs. Rogers at once went to her nephew's bedside.

TAYLOR ON THE ELECTION

Says the Victory For Gov. Beckham Means He is Banished.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 8.—W.
S. Taylor, the deposed Governor of Kentucky, who is under indictment for conspiracy in the Goebel murder, and is a refugee here, takes a gloomy view of the situation in his State. He said today that if Beckham is elected he felt as if he was banished from the State, and that the people there do not recognize the enormity of the offense that the Democratic party has committed against personal liberty and the rights of the people. He does not look for any relief for Howard and Powers from the Court of Appeals, even if O'Rear is elected.
He said the new court will not be organized until January.

When asked if a Republican Court of Appeals would have any effect on determining his return to Kentucky Mr. Taylor refused to say anything.

TOBACCO BARN BURNED.

Product of Twenty-One Acres Destroyed by Fire.

Crofton, Ky., Nov. 9.—The large tobacco barn of Mr. Daniel Wilburn, of near Mannington, was destroyed by fire last night. The building contained the product of twenty-one acres of fine tobacco, which was also reduced to ashes.
The barn was a comparatively new one and cost several hundred dollars. Mr. Wilburn's loss is estimated at not less than one thousand dollars. He had no insurance. He had, a few days before the fire, sold his tobacco for six and four cents, but had not commenced delivering the weed. The barn caught from sparks from a saw-mill located about two hundred feet away, which were blown to the building by a strong wind. It took hard work to save other houses situated near the barn.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Marion Moore Killed By a Runaway Team.Thrown From His Wagon and Skull Fractured on a Stone.

Marion Moore, a farmer living several miles from town on the Buttermilk road, was killed in a runaway accident Saturday afternoon. He left town late in the day driving a team of mules and when about two miles from town the mules ran away. Mr. Moore was thrown from his wagon and his head was crushed on a stone. He was picked up and taken into the house of G. Golay, but died in a few minutes. Mr. Moore was 54 years old and was a well known man in his section of the county. He leaves a large family.

DR. CLARK INDICTED.

Held to Answer a Charge of Murder.

Morganfield, Ky., Nov. 9.—The grand jury to-day returned an indictment into Circuit Court charging Dr. N. A. Clark with murder.
The crime with which Dr. Clark is charged is said to have been committed in his drug store at Sturgis about two months ago, at which time Miss Cora Waller died, it is alleged as a result of the criminal operation. Her escort Tom Holt then and there suicided over her dead body.

The trial was set for Tuesday, November 27th, which is the 20th day of the term.

FROST AT LAST.

Followed By a Touch of Real Wintry Weather.

The first frost that destroyed vegetation came on the morning of the 10th, following close upon the freeze of the 9th. The late fall was brought to a sudden end and wintry weather has been on us for several days. Wind and sleet on Sundays succeeded the ice and frost and from now on we will doubtless be kept wondering what will happen next.

city, died last Friday morning at 1

Death was due to congestion of

TRAMP KILLED.

Was Sitting on Track Asleep near Dawson.

Paducah, Ky., Nov. 8.—An unknown white tramp, about 28 years old, was struck by an extra northbound freight train on the Illinois Central, near Dawson, Ky., this morning, and instantly killed. He was sitting on the track asleep.

There is not much use in talking about the "reorganization of the Democratic party" unless we make the prodigals give bond to stay in after they get back.

ATTITUDE OF RAILROADS.

Prompt Assistance Rendered by Them at Galveston.

The popular belief that large corporations are relentless under all circumstances where profits are at stake, has received a gratifying "shock" in so far as the attitude of the railroads since the Galveston storm is concerned, as the following will show:

Morning Post, Rasigh, N. C. The Concord Tribune says:

"We have all heard a great deal about the corporations being deal-less. This may be true. They are at least stern business institutions. What we want to say is that when a disaster of the Galveston nature comes the people are absolutely at the mercy of the corporations, and in a measure look to them for relief. Just now the railroad, express and telegraph companies are 'doing no little toward the relief of the Galveston sufferers, and deserve due credit for what they are doing. It's true they have large business interests there, and suffer from a financial standpoint, but it is due these companies, soul or no soul, to say they can and do a great good when there is suffering to be relieved."

This is true and just. But for the prompt generosity of these corporations in such emergencies, the suffering would be multiplied many fold. And it is not only the promptness with which they respond, but the free transportation of supplies and all things necessary to alleviate the suffering, whether provided by governmental or individual charity, that deserves commendation. It costs as much to run trains for such occasion as it does to run similar trains for profit. Yet there is not a railroad company or an express or telegraph company in the land that would not be and has not been prompt to render every service that emergency could call for without price. When the Philadelphia Press intimated the other day that it had nurses and medical supplies and a trainload of provisions for Galveston, these things had scarcely been gathered together before the Southern had its train of cars and comfortable coaches at the Quaker City depot, and so soon as all could be loaded and gotten on board was speeding through the South, with absolute right-of-way of trackage, on its mission of mercy. It is due to say that either of the other great systems reaching into the South would have cheerfully performed the same service to the extent of its system.

Yet these great institutions of charity, as well as of enterprise, are the objects of special assault and oppression by the little souls who constitute the demagogue element of society. When these corporations are not cut down to the lowest limit in their traffic receipts they are singled out for burdensome, unusual and unequal taxation, thus cutting them both ways. And if they object to being thus robbed, they are held up constantly by enemies of the people.

Honest people are fast learning to place the proper estimate upon the vicious and ambitious demagogues and to appreciate and to protect in all things that are just, those great agencies of good as well as of material development—New Orleans "Times-Democrat."

In a republic it is patriotic to accept defeat gracefully.

STEAMSHIP TRUST

Combination of Trans-Atlantic Steamship Companies Being Rumored at Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 8.—Rumors were current to-day concerning a combination of trans-Atlantic steamship companies which will involve several companies and many millions of dollars. It was said that the Atlantic Transport Company, which operates lines of steamships between New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and London, will be a part of the combination. Bernard N. Baker, president of the company, when seen to-day said:

"I have nothing to give out."

Others interested in the company were equally reticent, but it was learned from an apparently reliable source that negotiations are going on in New York and that a representative of the Atlantic Transport Company is in that city looking after its interests.

Color is given to the rumor by the strength of the Atlantic Transport Company stock on the exchange to-day. There was an active inquiry for it on the board and on the curb, but the only sale recorded in the early dealings was ten shares at 150, an advance of 15 points compared with the last preceding sale. Since Aug. 30 the stock has risen 45 points.

Details of the deal are carefully guarded, but it is understood that the stock-holders of the Atlantic Transport Company will receive more than $200 per share for their holdings, in the event of a consummation of the deal.

The Atlantic Transport Company has in service now seventeen vessels, ranging in tonnage from 4,250 to 13,240. The Minnetonka and the Minnewaska, now building at Belfast, Ireland, will be launched next spring and placed in the New York London trade. They will be 13,240 tons vessels and similar in design to those now building for the company by the Maryland Steel Company. Besides these vessels, the company is building two at the yards of the New York Shipbuilding Company, at Camden, N. J., and will shortly award contracts for two more. The latter vessels will probably be built at Norwich, Conn.

The ships now in service are the Minnetonka, Mesaba, Manitou, Menominee, Marquette, Mohawk, Michigan, America, Europe and Manhattan on the New York-London route; Montana, Minnesota, Mackinaw and Maryland on the Baltimore and Philadelphia-London route. The company also owns the Maine, which is in the service of the British Government as a hospital ship.

Substitution Is Suspicious.

The attempt by a dealer to sell his customer a substitute in place of the article he has ordered is one of the oldest and most common of the tricks of the trade. The only reason why the buyer does not invariably realize the suspiciousness of substitution and promptly reject it, is probably because in many cases the money transaction involved is so small that it does not suggest the motive for fraud. Suppose a jeweler advertises a diamond at $50.00. He places it in his window. A would-be buyer enters the store and asks for this particular diamond. But the jeweler says: "I can give you that diamond if you want it, but here's another that's just as good as the one advertised."

The buyer's suspicions would be aroused at once. He would insist on the stone in the window and he'd keep an eye on it to see it wasn't changed. But in the case of a fifty-cent transaction it is different. The buyer often accepts the substitute which is offered as "just as good" as a widely advertised article, although substitution is just as suspicious in a fifty-cent transaction as in one involving fifty dollars.

Look at the question from another point of view. A sale of stock is advertised. There are horses with pedigrees and records to be sold. Farmer Brown attends the sale with the purpose of buying one of these good horses. But the seller says to him, "That horse you want is a good horse, of course, but I've got another here that is just as good, which I'd like to sell you."

"Has he just as good a pedigree?"

"Well, no, he hasn't any pedigree to speak of."

"Has he any record?"

"No, he hasn't any record."

"Well, no, he hasn't any record."

"Has he any record?"

"No, he hasn't any record."

"Has he any record?"

"No, he hasn't any record."

"Has he any record?"

And so Mark Hanna is threaten-defeated candidate for Congress is preparing to contest the seat of his

The election of John Rhea is not yet conceded by the Republicans.
It is claimed that 400 marked and disputed ballots in Warren county, if counted for Moss, would change the result, but no proper returns were made with these ballots. A mandamus suit to compel the commissioners to count them has been set for next Tuesday. In the Ninth, Kehoe has a safe majority, but is threatened with a contest.

Keep up the fight, boys. In 1896 McKinley had 1380 majority in Christian county and still in 1897 some of the Republican county officers escaped defeat by less than 300 votes, with unfair election officers and a star chamber count.
This time McKinley's majority is 1200 and the county Republican leaders have records behind them and troubles ahead. The new election law cannot be worse than the one of four years ago and the gang

Party Machinery Decried
By Convention.

Under the rules adopted by the Democratic State Convention last June the Democrats of the State will

Monday, November 19. The procedure prescribed is as follows:

That hereafter whenever a vacancy occurs in any of the county or legislative district committees the same shall be filled by the Democrats of the precinct after ten days notice, duly signed by the chairman and secretary of said committee, as to the time and place of holding said meeting for said purpose shall have been posted. Pro-

1 o'clock p. m., and proceed to select

The chairman or a majority meeting of the same whenever they deem it necessary.

Vacancies occurring in any of said committees after the reorganization herein provided for, shall be filled as hereinbefore set forth.

If, after notice as aforesaid, there shall be no election held in any precinct, then the State central committee of the district, on recommendation of the chairman, or in the event he does not act within ten days after such failure of election, on recommendation of a majority of the members of the county, fill such vacancy by the appointment of a Democrat of such precinct.

This amendment shall not apply to cities of the first and second classes.

SOLOMONIC DECISION

Custody of the Gant Child Given Alternately to Father and Mother.

The habeas corpus proceeding of T. L. Gant, the young Hopkinsville merchant, instituted for the possession of his six-year-old boy, after consuming two days in the circuit court, was disposed of by Special Judge W. S. Morrison Saturday afternoon. The custody of the child was awarded to the father for six weeks and to the mother eight weeks alternately.

Upon the hearing of this proceeding some interesting and rather sensational evidence was introduced which proves that Mrs.
Davidson, the respondent to the suit, has figured in another divorce proceeding even more sensational than the one she has now instituted against John Davidson, of Hawes-ville, in which she alleges she was secretly married to him in Indiana last spring.

From the proof in the habeas corpus proceeding in was developed that T. L. Gant was married in 1893 at Clarksville, Tenn., to the present Mrs. Davidson, who was then Miss Mabel Young, a daughter of Zeno M. Young, of Madisonville. She was beautiful, attractive and very accomplished as a young girl. They married and settled at Ellettsville, in Todd county, where Mr. Gant conducted a mercantile business.

The trial of this writ disclosed the fact that a contract was entered into in 1897 between Mr. Gant and his wife as the settlement of a divorce suit which was then pending and which was brought by Mr.
Gant against his wife. The cause alleged in the original divorce suit, it is understood, was infidelity on the part of the wife. This case was never tried. The contract which was produced was to settle their differences without making public the real facts that caused the separation. It appears from the wording of the contract that certain letters written by Mrs. Gant to a well known man in that section of that state, together with his letters to her, were found by Mr.

Gant and confirmed in his mind that his wife was untrue to him.
Rather than disclose all the facts and drag the family skeleton from the closet, the matters were arbitrated, and by Judge C. J. Pratt a witness for the petitioner, it was shown that this contract exhibited in evidence, was the result of the arbitration. By its terms the original suit for divorce was not to be prosecuted to judgment, but an amended petition was filed alleging abandonment only and she was to make no claim for alimony. But as he had abandoned her, he could not sue under the contract, and she brought the suit, he made no defense and the divorce was granted.

This contract also provided that Mr. Gant should have the custody of the child and that when he allowed it to visit her, she was to sign an agreement providing for its return upon a stated time, but she would not stand by this agreement and the last time she took the child she would not give it up at all and this habeas corpus writ ensued.

The trial of the case, as stated above, lasted two days. The attorneys engaged were Capt. W. T.
Ellis for the plaintiff and Geo. W.
Jolly for the defendant. They consumed practically all of Saturday in argument, discussing, incidentally, the city council, the water works bond proposition and even the Goebel election law. At 4 p. m. the court adjourned from the darkened court room and an hour later decided the case as follows:

"It is adjudged by the court that the best interests of the said Edwin Y. Gant require that his care and custody be awarded to his father, T. L. Gant, and his mother, Mabel Davis, alias Davidson, as follows:
That his father shall have his care and custody from the 20th day of November, 1906, for a period of six weeks, and thus to be alternated between them. The writ is dismissed with the cost of the complainant."

Mr. Gant since the divorce was granted, has married again.

The trial attracted the closest attention of many members of the bar, but there were few other auditors. Of these the most interested listener was Mr. John Davidson, who is claimed by Mrs. Mabel Gant as her recently and clandestinely acquired husband. Mr.

Davidson spent the day listening to the arguments in the case. He is here for the purpose of preparing his answer to the divorce suit filed by Mrs. Davidson and would not talk for publication, but it is understood that in his answer he will deny the clandestine marriage to the former Mrs. Gant. The marriage record offered by Mrs. Gant, or Davidson, shows that she was married to
"John Davis," and he will deny that he is the person referred to.

The case, it will be seen, has many complex situations.
A striking and significant feature of the testimony in the habeas cor-

One of the latter was that he did not know his father, who was then present in the court. The father said to him: "Who told you to say little fellow, promptly.—Owensboro

PASSING OF PRAIRIE DOG.

Graziers Have Declared Incessant War Against Him.

The agricultural experiment station at Lincoln, Neb., has just issued a bulletin which seals the fate of that picturesque little fellow, the prairie dog, the only object that gives vital interest to the monotonous plains of the far West, says the Los Angeles Express. It is always a relief to run past a prairie dog town in the interminable dull expanse of cactus and sage brush, but his time has come, and he must speedily become an extinct animal, and the holes which have once known him will know him no more forever.

The industrial forces of civilization are leagued against the prairie dog, and it is his own fault, for innocent as he looks, he is bad. Like Artemus Ward's kangaroo, he is an "amoosin" little cuss. But he is destructive. He kills out the grass, and as that part of the country frequented by the prairie dog is almost entirely used for grazing purposes, his extermination has been ordered to save the land from his ravages.

The bulletin gives the fatal prescription in minute detail. First, dissolve three ounces of strychnine and one-half pound of cyanide of potassium in one quart of boiling water. Then add two quarts of molasses and one teaspoonful of oil of anise. Stir. Then pour the solution over a bushel of wheat, while mixing it together, sprinkle in four pounds of finely ground cornmeal, which enables the grains of wheat to carry a large amount of poison. It is a tempting menu for Cynomys Ludovicianus, but one teaspoonful at a hole ends the career of the whole family, and the proportion given above will dispose of a town of 500 acres, the number of families to the acre ranking from thirty to 150.

The bulletin further says that this year the poisoning is being done over a large range of territory, and with gratifying results, so that it is not improbable that in a short time the last prairie dog will have disappeared. The railroad traveler, as he crosses the plains, will miss the sight of the little fellows who have added life and gaiety to the otherwise monotonous scenery. But they should not have been bad. It is to be regretted that the learned bulletin was not sufficiently explicit. It does not tell what becomes of the prairie dog's boarders, the owl and the rattlesnake, who, though never seen, were once popularly believed to share with him the comforts of home and to dwell together in delightful concord. Do they also partake of the tempting meal left at the door, and pass away with the proprietor and his family, or do they expire of grief as they witness the sad tragedy?

HUNT POSTPONED.

Deer Dying of Disease Known as "Black Tongue."

The Christian County Hunting Club has postponed its annual hunt for a week. The club was to have started for Arkansas yesterday, but received a communication from a friend there to the effect that all the deer were dying with disease known as "black tongue." This friend has been instructed to make a thorough examination and if the above disease prevails in reality the hunt will be abandoned for this fall; it will not the club will leave next week.—Pembroke Journal.

LONG HEADED.

Scheme By Judge Clifton J. Pratt.

Will File His Appeal in the Contest For Attorney General After Court Becomes Republican.

Judge Clifton J. Pratt, of Madisonville, who was the Republican nominee for attorney general, was in the city yesterday and is said to have authorized the statement that when O'Rear takes his seat on the court of appeals bench, the first of January, he will take an appeal from the judgment of the Franklin circuit court in the contest case for the attorney generalship. Judge O'Rear's accession will give the Republicans a majority of that court. When the minor contest cases were decided by Judge Cantrill, of the Franklin circuit court, in favor of the Democrats, all the Republican claimants except Judge Pratt took appeals, which were recently decided adversely to them and on which they have only thirty days in which to apply for a rehearing. Judge Pratt merely had exceptions noted, but did not take an appeal. With a Republican court he thinks he will have an easier time than his brethren. He can still take an appeal, give a supersedeas bond and proceed with it to the court of appeals.

Judge Pratt is credited with long-headedness in picking a winner in the appellate judgeship race and refraining from taking an appeal until he could get a court of his way of thinking. He was credited at the time only with a desire to be rid of the bother of a contest and some of his Republican friends called him a "quitter."

The other minor contest cases will all be disposed of before the new court is organized.

will generally correct this difficulty.

If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk. If you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

BRYAN'S VIEWS.

Defeated Candidate Gives Some Reasons For Outcome of The Election.

Had Weight With Those Not Considering Causes—Not Discouraged.

Lincoln, Neb. Nov. 8.—W. J. Bryan to-night gave out the following statement concerning the election:

"The result was a surprise to me and the magnitude of the Republican victory was a surprise to our opponents as well as to those who voted our ticket. It is impossible to analyze the returns until they are more complete, but, speaking generally, we seem to have gained in the large cities and to have lost in the smaller cities and in the country.

"The Republicans were able to secure tickets or passes for all their voters who were away from home, and this gave them considerable advantage. We have no way of knowing at this time how much money was spent in the purchase of votes and in colonization. But while these would account for some of the Republican gains, they could not account for the widespread increase in the Republican vote.

"The prosperity argument was probably the most potent one used by the Republicans. They compared present conditions with the panic times of 1893 to 1896, and this argument had weight with those who did consider the reasons for the change. The appeal, 'Stand by the President while the war is on,' had a great deal of influence among those who did not realize that a war against a doctrine of self-government in the Philippines must react upon us in this country.

Not Discouraged.

"We made an honest fight upon an honest platform, and having done our duty as we saw it, we have nothing to regret. We were defeated, but are not discouraged. The fight must go on. I am sure that Republican policies will be repudiated by the people when the tyranny of these policies is fully understood. The contrast between plutocracy and Democracy cannot end until one or the other is completely triumphant."

Concerning himself Mr. Bryan said:

"I have come out of the campaign with perfect health and a clear conscience. I did my utmost to bring success to the principles for which I stood. Mr. Stevenson did all that he could; Senator Jones and the members of the Democratic, Populist, Silver Republican and Anti-Imperialist Committees did all they could. Mr. Hearst and his assistants in club organization put forth their best efforts. Our newspapers, our campaign speakers and our local organizations all did their part. I have no fault to find and no reproaches.

"I shall continue to take an active interest in politics as long as I live. I believe it to be the duty of every citizen to do so, and in addition to my interest as a citizen, I feel that it will require a lifetime of work to repay the political friends who have done so much for me."

The Senatorship.

"I shall not be a Senatorial candidate before the Legislature which has been elected. Senator Allen

Mr. Bryan said he had no other plans at present than to remain at home until he had recovered from the fatigue of campaigning. He denied the report that he would remove from Nebraska and make Texas his home.

His Majority in the County 1194 Votes.

While Bryan is Behind McKinley 1209 Votes, a Slight Gain.

The official canvass of the election returns for Christian county began Friday morning and was concluded yesterday morning.

The sessions of the Board were held in the circuit clerk's office, all of the members being present.

The Republican candidates were represented by attorneys James Breathitt and Joe McCarroll. C. O. Prowse was appointed 'tabulator for the Board.

The Democratic members of the Board agreed to submit all legal questions arising during the count to Judge J. I. Landes, the leading Republican lawyer of the city. This proposition was accepted by the Republican member, Mr. C. A. Brasher.

The first question arising was as to the doubtful ballots returned. The Democrats held that no doubtful ballot returned could be considered unless it had attached to it or sealed up with it a statement signed by all of the officers, setting forth whether the ballot had been counted or not. Judge Landes was appealed to and sustained this contention, which was based on a decision in the case of Anderson vs. Likens from Ohio county in 1898.

The count then proceeded and of the many doubtful and uncounted ballots returned, only 19 were provided with the statements required by the law. These were considered and one vote added to the Republican ticket and one vote each taken from two of the Republican candidates.

A few clerical errors were found in the unofficial returns, adding 8 votes to McKinley and 4 votes to Beckham. The official vote is shown in the table here given.

It was found that there was no place for the vote on the turnpike question in the backs of the poll books and there was some confusion in getting the duplicate certificates from judges of the election in some precincts in which both certificates had not been returned.

The Board was compelled to adjourn Saturday until Monday, as seven districts were still unreported.

The completed count yesterday morning was made with five precincts sending in no returns on the turnpike and bond proposition. Of these Gordonsfield and Longview were unofficially reported to have gone for, and Dogwood, Bluff Spring and Baker's Mill against the propositions. The official returns are given below.

The scattering vote in the county was very small. The Prohibition ticket received 28 votes, the Populist ticket 19 votes and the Socialist Labor ticket one vote.

A CABMAN'S CALCULATION.

Give the Young Upstart a Lesson in Old School Figuring.

During the autumn of 1896 the writer frequented the beautiful Dominion square of Montreal, gathering an acquaintance with Canadian boys, birds and flowers, and finding much to entertain and amuse among the quaint characters that haunted the locality.

On two sides of the square were ranged a line of cab, trim, shabby, neat and untidy, as sure indicators of the type of man who owned them as the "bonnet that betokeneth the woman." The cabstand was there, also, shabby and unpainted. Invariably this was empty. In summer the cabmen lounged on adjacent settees or lay comfortably at ease on the ground, waiting with superb assumption of indifference the arrival of a customer. In winter they tramped up and down the snowy, hard-packed streets, looking like so many red-faced bears, clad in their raccoon coats and fur-trimmed goloshes.

There were a few shrewd, narrow-faced Scotchmen, surly of tongue and tight at a bargain. A number of ill-voiced, and-eyed French Canadians, and a large majority of talking Irishmen. These last were not more unreliable than the others, and they were a deal wittier. When first appeared on the scene, they approached and took a fatherly interest in suggesting that a drive in a cab was the greatest promoter of health in Canada; then that it was cruel to let a little dog, "such a beautiful little dog," walk so far (Gyp was good for miles), and when this failed, I was "looking pale," or "the dog was not good for walking," or "the air is a bit dampish, ma'am," with an eloquent glance at a cab, till finally they relapsed to sighs, and ended by respectful touches of their caps and a solicitude to "whistle up the dog," did Gyp disappear.

It came about that I would overhear conversations, and many is the bit of enjoyment culled therefrom. One day as I approached a group there seemed to be some sort of altercation, and hoping to avoid a sight pugilistic, I seated myself and waited.

A big, red-whiskered fellow was standing near a pale, raw-boned Irish boy, and shaking his brawny fist dangerously near the long, thin, brittle-looking nose.

"I could've sworn he was 60 years of age; it's the truth and I mane it. D'ye understand?"

"That's all right," returned the boy, cautiously lowering the fist from such close proximity to his nose, "but didn't you say he was born in 1832?"

"Yes," agreed the big man.

"Well, then," said the boy, "if he was born in 1833, and this is 1896, the man is only 63 years old—now don't be making him older than he is."

"Kape yer timper, boy! I'll tell ye how it is, an' I want to school yer for ye was born. Ye see, he was born in 1833. Now look at me; 30 to 40 is ten, isn't it?"

"Yes," acknowledged the boy.

"And 40 to 50 makes 20."

"Yes (very faintly).

"Fifty to 60 is 30—60 to 70 is 40—70 to 80 is 50 and 80 to 90 is 60."

"That's all right," said the lad, "but—"

"Shop!" commanded red whiskers, with a triumphant look around. "Very well! I've got him up to 60—now this '33' and '96'—ye see, boy, six an' tree is noin, so thin the man is 69 years old. Ye're wrong an' I'm right."

The cabbies all shouted: "Yis, Larry's always right," and the pale, raw-boned boy kicked at a stone and defiantly held his opinion, but he kept his peace, and marvelled at the schoolin' that was to be had "before he was born"—Elvira Floyd Froemcke, in N. E. Grocer.

Inquiry Due to a Pest.

Australia has made out of its rabbit pest an industry. One exporter alone receives from rabbits between 15,000 and 20,000 rabbits a day, for which he pays trappers as wages $5,000 a week. This same exporter has 21,000 traps set, employing 500 persons to look after them. Last year he exported 700,000 rabbits, and he expects to send away 1,500,000 carcasses this season. Another exporter says he has sent away 250,000 rabbits during the season, and that his wages account with the men employed averages $3,500 a week. Another exporter estimates that the output of rabbits this season will be about 6,000,000, and another person in the business estimates the number at 5,000,000. Taking the rabbits at six cents a head, the sum to be distributed among the trappers will be about $900,000.

BUTTERFLY SLEEP.

The Beautiful Insect Folds its Wings and Retires Early.

Fond as the butterflies are of the light and sun, they dearly love their beds. Like most fashionable people who do nothing, they stay there very late. But their unwillingness to get up in the morning is equalled by their eagerness to leave the world and its pleasures early and be asleep in good time. They are the earliest of all our creatures to seek repose, says the Spectator.

An August day has about 15 hours of light, and for that time the sun shines for 12 hours at least; but the butterflies weary of sun and flowers, color and light so early that by six o'clock, even on warm days, many of them have retired for the night. On the chalk hills live many of the exquisite blue butterflies, whose motto, like that of the reds, is "early to bed, early to rise."

Sometimes they may be found, long before sundown, sleeping in hundreds on the Dorus. Then may be seen the kind of bed a butterfly of this fragile yet hardy race chooses and the attitudes it sleeps in, its efforts to be comfortable, and its precautions to avoid being carried off and eaten by the tigers and lions of the butterfly world.

Their dormitory was in the tall, colorless grass, with dead seed heads, that fringes the tracks over the hills, or the leaves that cross the hollows. Common blues in hundreds were there, and small heath butterflies almost as many.

The former, each and every one of them, arrange themselves to look like part of the soil, so that they can be stepped on. Then the use and purpose of the particular color and yellow undercolorings of their wings are seen. The butterfly invariably goes to sleep head down, its eyes looking straight down the stem of the grass. It folds and contracts its wings to the utmost, partly, perhaps, to wrap its body from the cold. But the effect is to reduce its size and shape to a narrow ridge, making an acute angle with the grass stem, hardly distinguishable in shape and color from the seed heads on thousands of other stems around. The butterfly also sleeps on the top of the stem, which increases its likeness to the natural finish of the grass.

CONDUCTORS ARE HUMAN.

"Common" Courtesy None Too Common on Metropolitan Railways.

"Come, wake up! Wake up! This is your station!" exclaimed a conductor of a very early in the morning uptown train on the Sixth avenue "L," shaking a somnolent passenger.

A grunt was the response.

The conductor repeated his injunction in louder tones and shook the sleeper with increased force.

"What in blazes do you mean by—"

"Here, get out quick, or you'll miss your station!"

The man rubbed his eyes, and, still muttering imprecations against the conductor, bolted for the door.

It was a sleepy crowd on that train. Before Harlem was reached the conductor had aroused from their slumbers nine more passengers. Not one of the men thus saved from being carried past his station thanked the conductor. Most of them acted as though they had suffered some grievous affront and were in duty bound to resent it.

Finding that I sympathized with him, the conductor interviewed himself to me concerning the base ingratitude of "L" road passengers.

"Ingratitude ain't no name for it," he said. "I consider I'm getting off here if I don't get abused for doing a man a service by waking him up so that he can't get carried past his station. Why, I've waked up hundreds of 'em in my time, an' not one of 'em has ever said 'Thank you' to me. I've been slugged for it, though, more than once. An' yet people are always making cracks at us for being brutal 'insolent an' that sort o' thing. We ain't no abuser sers, I'll allow, but I'm blest if we don't have to put up with a lot worse treatment than we gives."

Has anybody ever seen a conductor or thanked for waking up a sleeper passed on an "L" train. I have not.—N. Y. Herald.

A Curious Street.

Canton, China, possesses the queerest street in the world. It is roofed in with glazed paper fastened on bamboo, and contains more signboards to the square foot than any street in any other country. It contains no other shops but those of apothecaries and dentists. Physic street is its appropriate name.

American Oysters in Germany.

In consequence of the increasing cost of Holland oysters, American oysters are coming more and more into vogue in Germany.

CURIOUS CUCKOOS.

The cuckoo is generally known only as a bird with a very monotonous note; a constant cry of "cuckoo, cuckoo" over and over again. Among naturalists, however, the cuckoo is known as a bird that has made its nest for itself, but takes advantage of one already built by some more industrious bird.

There is no word said of the cuckoo about these advertisers who, instead of making a success of their own, seek to profit by the success of others. It is so with those imitations of Dr. Pierce's methods, by which free medical advice is offered, although those who make the offer are without qualified medical ability or experience. And the cry raised in some cases of "woman, woman, woman write to woman" makes the resemblance to the cuckoo even stronger.

There is as far as known no qualified woman physician connected with any proprietary medicine establishment, and none therefore competent to give medical advice. It is certain that there is no one, man or woman, who can offer free medical advice backed by such knowledge and experience as is possessed by Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief, consulting physician to the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y. For over thirty years Dr. Pierce has made a specialty of the treatment of diseases peculiar to women. In that time he has treated over half a million women absolutely without charge or cost. Every letter is held as strictly private and securely confidential, and all answers are given in a perfectly plain envelope, bearing no printing whatever upon them.

AN INTERESTING CLOCK.

Combines Many Features of the Most Remarkable Timepieces.

Messrs. William Potts & Sons, the well-known clock makers of Leeds, England, have just constructed for that city what is claimed to be the greatest horological achievement of the century. The clock is a huge one, and in it are combined many features of the most remarkable clocks of the world, such as those at Bern and Strasburg cathedral, says the Scientific American.

The huge clock dial, which is of polished copper with the figures inscribed upon it in blue, is flanked upon either side by a mail-clad knight, each holding above his head a battle-axe, which serves to strike the gongs at the quarters and hours. Above the clock, upon a kind of perch, stands a large cockerel. In front of the dial is a platform.

When the quarters of the hour are reached the mail-clad knights strike their gongs. Immediately on the left hand side of the dial a door opens automatically, and there issues forth a British soldier in full uniform. When he reaches the center of the platform he halts and salutes in precise military manner. He then passes on to the left, and is followed by a killed Highlander, who performs a similar performance when he reaches the middle of the platform. Then comes an Irishman in the old dress of his country, brandishing a shillelagh; then a Canadian boatman with his paddle, and finally, a Hindoo, wearing his turban and loin cloth. When the figures have passed round the platform they disappear from sight through another door, which closes automatically upon the last figure's exit. Then the cockerel overhead flaps its wings, raises its head, and gives three lusty crows. The figures are manufactured of copper, bronze, while many of the other parts of the clock are constructed from gun metal. The escapement is the double three-legged gravity by Lord Grimthorpe, who is probably the greatest living authority on clocks and bells.

DEMANDS ON MOROCCO

Battleship Kentucky's Presence at Tangier Will Have Influence.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The instructions of the State Department to United States Consul Gunner, at Tangier, under which he acted yesterday, were to collect an indemnity from the Moorish Government for the murder of Marcus Essagin, a naturalized American citizen, who was killed about a year ago by a mob. Essagin became involved in an altercation with a Moor against whom he had accidentally run, when a crowd of the Moor's comrades fell upon him and beat him to death. The Moorish Government disclaimed responsibility for mob violence of this kind, but the United States Government contended that the Moorish Government had failed in its obligations in declining to take any steps to punish the perpetrators of the crime. Now Mr. Gunner is directed again to present the case with an urgent request for a settlement. It now happens that the big battleship Kentucky is making her way through the Mediterranean to Manila, and if she touches at a Moorish port, as she would be likely to do, her presence may have a beneficial effect in stimulating action upon the Consul's demands.

"BOB WHITE".

Kentucky Quail More Numerous Than For Several Seasons.

The open season for shooting quail begins in Kentucky next Thursday and will last until the end of the year. The quail crop all over the State is reported better this fall than for many seasons and the shooting of "Bob White" promises to be fine. A large number of young birds are reported, showing that the second brood hatched out well, and as there seems to be no end of partridges, there also promises to be an abundance of hunting between next Thursday and Jan. 1, 01.

In this county birds are said to be abundant and local sports are preparing for the fun in store. Local hardware establishments are doing a good business in the way of fitting out hunters and several parties will be made up in this city to "tackle" the fields early Thursday morning.

There has been little to deter the growth of the young birds, but as there are no game Wardens in Western Kentucky to protect quail, pot hunters no doubt will have bagged many birds before the open season begins.

Too Much Pork, Not Enough Fat.

Without doubt the fat in pork is about as hard to digest as anything can be. A person has to have a strong digestion and must be engaged in hard work in order to take care of this food, although it is true a large number of persons depend upon it especially through the cold weather. The fact is, however, that as a rule fat is largely deficient in our food; that is, a fat which can be easily digested and promptly assimilated by the system. Cod liver oil, as we find it in Scott's Emulsion, is the most easily digested of all fats; it is just the food the body must have to give it nerve power, brain power and digestive power.

WAITED FOR THE ELECTION.

Steel Billet Pool Is to be Organized.

New York, Nov. 8.—It is learned from a trustworthy source that a meeting of representatives of the steel companies has just been held in this city. Steps were taken some time ago to effect the proposed steel billet pool and two meetings for drawing up and adopting agreements under which the pool could be formed have now been held. What action was taken at the latest meeting can not be learned. It is known that nothing definite was done at the previous meeting, as it was desired to defer action until after the election. Rumors have been current for some time that the price of steel billets would be advanced to $30 a ton. The present price is $18.50.
